IT'S UP TO COMMISSIONERS

They Are in a Position To Speak
For and Also Speak To Citizens of The State

Jamestown, N. D., Jan. 19.—Tax burdens of the people of North Dakota must be reduced, Governor R. A. Nestos told the County Commissioners of the state in their annual session here today. Increase in the general taxes for the five years preceding 1916-17, 6.10 per cent, the governor declared and the tax burden has reached the point where economy must be practiced "if it is to become possible for the people to continue living, working and raising their families here."

"By law, you superintend the fiscal affairs of your respective counties and as such have the handling of much property, large funds, and a very important public business," Governor Nestos told the commissioners after his greeting. "With the experience that most of you have had in dealing with the problems confronting the county commissioners, in raising and expending the funds of a county, you realize I am sure, not only the importance, but the difficulty of handling the public business, entrusted to your care, economically and well."

Governor Nestos said plain English. "As in every other public business of the state, and you are in a position to speak for and also to speak to, a large proportion of the citizenship of our state. It is to you, therefore, as representatives of the people of the state, in close and constant touch with the taxpayers in your counties, that I desire to speak today on some of the problems confronting you and also the different counties and local political subdivisions of the state."

There is usually a great deal of talk about economy and then very little done in actual practice, but I am sure that you realize that the situation is such now that we need to practice as well as talk, and to exercise a rigid economy in all the business affairs of our state, counties and local political subdivisions. I presume that you are familiar with the figures and that you realize that from 1916 to 1920 inclusive, the total general property taxes levied, increased as follows:

State	103.70 per cent
County	67.30 per cent
City, Town, Village	75.00 per cent
Township	58.25 per cent
School	117.50 per cent

Increases Too Large
"The figures for 1921 are not yet available but you know that these will show still further increases, and would have made the percentages still larger. These are the increases in general property taxes only and we have in addition for state purposes and the special taxes that have been imposed in recent years, such as on automobiles, oil, etc. and three cent ball tax. For the local subdivisions, we have also the special assessments of every kind, character and description. I do not suppose there is a person present but feels that this increase is larger than it ought to be, and that we must discover some method of curtailing the cost of administering the public business of our state, and the various subdivisions thereof. We must, however, also realize that to go back to the levies and expenditures of 1916 and before would be impossible. There are more duties imposed upon the public officials, and more public business entrusted to them than ever before, and the people who have entrusted this business to these officials have a right to expect and do expect that it will be looked after efficiently and economically. To make such reductions in the levies or expenditures as will destroy or seriously cripple the public service would be a serious mistake. There must be enough money provided to secure the successful management of these different lines of public business."

Citizens Approve Economy Program
"During these weeks, when I have been writing some of you about the responsibility and practicability of reducing expenses and levies, I have been approached and written to by a number of people who are interested in special institutions or lines of the public business. Without exception, they approve of the program of economy and express a conviction that it must be carried out if it is to become possible for the people to continue living, working and raising their families here. But usually they express a fear that most of the cut is going to come in the field where they are interested and some even go so far as to insist that, while economy must be reduced, that it must not be done in the particular field where they are interested. Without exception I have told these people that this is a case where all departments of the public business and all political subdivisions, as well as the state itself, will have to bear its share of the burden. I am sure that there is no subdivision and no department of the public business that will enjoy having its revenue curtailed, but when the need is great we must all be willing to bear the inconvenience, and if need be, suffering entailed by the cutting off of a lot of these appropriations, and curtailment of expenses. We should, however, be

MILLER REPORT

Sub-committee to Submit Matter to Full Judiciary Committee Next Monday

HEARINGS ARE ENDED

Washington, Jan. 19.—(By the Associated Press)—Members of the judiciary sub-committee considering the charges preferred by the clean court committee against the confirmation of Andrew Miller to be United States district judge for North Dakota, expect to make a report to the full committee at its meeting next Monday.

The members of the committee, it was said today, will consider any affidavits which may be submitted this week either by the opponents or supporters of Mr. Miller but no further oral hearings will be held.

Washington, Jan. 19.—(By the Associated Press)—The clean court committee of North Dakota which is opposing the nomination of Andrew Miller to be United States district judge for that state, is understood to have requested investigation of his citizenship at today's session of the hearing by the senate judiciary sub-committee which is considering the nomination.

Counsel for the clean court committee are said to have stated that Mr. Miller was born in Denmark and that no record could be found that he or his parents had been naturalized.

While yesterday's meeting, like those preceding, was held behind closed doors, it is understood that additional charges were filed against the nominee by the clean court committee. These are said to have included the allegation that he was instrumental, with the assistance of William Lemke, former attorney general of North Dakota, in obtaining a modification of the state inspection laws while representing the Standard Oil Co. In this incident it is said to have been charged that Mr. Miller advanced $20,000 for defraying certain expenses of the state legislators called in special session to amend the law.

The sub-committee was requested to subpoena two representatives of the oil company alleged to have been familiar with the transaction.

Senator Ladd, Republican, North Dakota, who was connected with the state inspection bureau at the period under consideration, is understood to have discussed these charges at the request of the sub-committee. He is said to have asserted that amendment of the law was widely favored in the state at any time and that no impropriety attached to Mr. Miller for representing the oil company. He told the sub-committee, it is understood, that the money referred to in the charges was owing to the state by the company and that appeal was made to Mr. Miller to have its payment expedited to meet an extraordinary situation in which no funds were available with which to pay the legislators.

It is also understood that the clean court committee renewed its charges already denied, that Mr. Miller had been affiliated with the Nonpartisan League and the Industrial Workers of the World.

Miller's Statement
Andrew Miller in a formal statement declared "that the prosecution has utterly failed in every respect to substantiate a single charge," and asserted, "The state is wiped entirely clean" by evidence submitted by him. Opposition to his confirmation was political, he asserted, and made with "hope only to delay my appointment"

MOTOR BUS ON
N. D. RAILROADS
IS CONSIDERED

Fargo, Jan. 19.—Improved additional rail transportation service by the inauguration of passenger cars on the Northern Pacific and Great Northern was considered at a conference here today of representatives of the passenger department of both roads and retail business men and bankers of Fargo.

The plan proposes installation of a gasoline motor bus to operate daily from New Rockford to Fargo, and from Devils Lake to Fargo, on the Great Northern; Marion to Fargo and Edgeley to Fargo on the Northern Pacific.

The purpose of such gasoline motor service is to enable the passenger trade from all towns to transact their business in Fargo within a day.

Growers Meeting

Fargo, Jan. 19.—Wheat producers of the Northwest will receive from 8 to 12 cents a bushel more for their grain as a result of an 18-cent saving in transportation costs in shipping to Liverpool provided the Great Lakes-St. Lawrence Deep Waterways project is pushed to completion, former Governor W. L. Harding, of Iowa, told the Tri-State Grain Growers' convention in session here today.

Good and better roads, improvement of facilities for the economic distribution of farm products and means by which general marketing conditions would be better were among subjects discussed by authorities at today's meeting.

Besides Governor Harding other principal speakers who addressed the convention at the afternoon session, were C. B. Crandall, Randolph, Minn., and W. G. McCright, of the United Grain Growers, Winnipeg; P. M. McGarry, Walker, Minn., and J. J. Murphy, Pierre, S. D., spoke at the morning session.

"Figures show the average American farmer has 1,100 miles haul to get his products to market as compared with an average of 200 miles of his foreign competitor," Mr. Harding said in discussing the Great Lakes-St. Lawrence waterway project.

"What is the solution to this situation. Use of facilities which nature has furnished water. Under ordinary conditions five to six miles on water at condition a ton of freight can be the same cost of one mile by rail."

FIRE DESTROYS
GOLDEN VALLEY
BUSINESS BLOCK

Loss Estimated at $50,000 to $75,000 Occasioned by Early Morning Fire

GENERAL STORE BURNS

Fire Believed to Have Started
From Defective Furnace
Pipe in Store

(Special to The Tribune.)
Golden Valley, N. D., Jan. 19.—All the buildings in one block were destroyed by fire which started about 4:30 o'clock this morning, with heavy loss.

The fire was discovered in the basement of Ben Halpern department store starting, it is believed, from defective furnace pipes. The fire spread rapidly, destroying the entire building in which the store was located and the residence of Mr. Halpern, who was not at home.

The fire also destroyed the frame building occupied by the William Newman machine shop and the Motor Inn garage. Autos in the garage were saved. Efforts at fighting the flames proved ineffectual and the entire block was destroyed.

B. Halpern, owner of the Halpern Department Store of Golden Valley, received a call about 5:30 o'clock this morning from Golden Valley stating that fire had been discovered in the basement of the store. At 6:30 another call said that the entire business block had been destroyed by fire.

Mr. Halpern came to Bismarck a few days ago for dental and medical treatment. His family is visiting in Minneapolis.

The Halpern store faced on Main street in Golden Valley. It was in a two-story frame block, covered with galvanized iron. A part of the building was partitioned off as the residence of the Halperns and roomers occupied second story rooms.

Mr. Halpern said he could not estimate the loss accurately. It is probable the loss will be $50,000 to $60,000. The loss is only partly covered by insurance, Mr. Halpern said.

Other buildings which burned, according to the message received by Mr. Halpern, were the William Newman implement store, and Motor Inn garage.

DIRECT LOANS
TO COOP FIRMS
TO BE DENIED

Must Go Through Regular Channels, Says War Finance
Director

Co-operative elevator companies in Minnesota and other northwestern states cannot obtain direct loans from the War Finance corporation under the Kellogg act unless they come to Washington with warehouse certificates. This was the information given by Eugene Meyer, director of the corporation, to a delegation composed of Representatives Frank Clague, A. J. Volstead and Harold Knutson of Minnesota, and George M. Young, O. B. Burnett and J. H. Sinclair of North Dakota, according to a special dispatch to the Minneapolis Journal.

The northwestern members stated that under their interpretation of the law, co-operative associations could borrow directly from the War Finance corporation. The corporation had refused such loans directing the applicants to proceed through their local banks and the regional loan committee.

Representative Clague cited an instance of a loan of $25,000 upon which payment was demanded by a Minneapolis bank at maturity. An attempt was made to obtain money through the local bank, but that bank was not in position to accommodate the borrower.

"With this situation," Mr. Clague said, "our farmers will be obliged to sell their stock unless the co-operatives are given relief."

Director Meyer stated that the War Finance corporation has authorized loans amounting to $27,500,000 in the northwest. Minnesota has been granted $5,000,000; North Dakota, $8,500,000; South Dakota, $8,500,000, and Montana, $4,800,000, he said. These are exclusive of advances to the Equity Exchange.

"These loans have helped the general business situation," Mr. Meyer said. "To make loans directly to co-operative associations without warehouse certificates as collateral, would mean that the corporation would engage in a general banking business."

REICHERT AND AIDS WIN FIGHT FOR CONTROL OF EQUITY PLANT

Casey is Ousted as President and Board of Directors Resigns With Him—to Reopen
Plant by Raising Funds

Fargo, N. D., Jan. 19.—Control of the Equity Co-operative Packing plant, which has been fought for in the last year with bitterness on the part of some stockholders, today is securely lodged in the hands of the block of stockholders who began their fight against the old organization.

C. W. Reichert, of Carrington, member of the house of representatives, was elected president of the company to succeed P. M. Casey. All members of the old board of directors resigned with Casey. U. L. Burdick, of Williston, was elected first vice president; John L. Mikkelsen, of Williston, second vice president; C. P. Peterson, of Bismarck, third vice president, and George Brastrup, of Courtenay, treasurer. Directors other than officers, include H. P. Nygaard, Norman county, Minn.; Geo. E. Brastrup, Stutsman county; G. F. Bragger, Wells county; F. C. Brostad, Steele county; E. A. Duff, Barnes county.

The packing plant, which is located about five miles west of Fargo and was expected to be a big industrial addition to the city, is now inoperative. President Reichert immediately began efforts to raise $10,000 to block a sheriff's sale. He said $5,000 had been raised.

Mr. Casey, in retiring, said that if $200,000 was raised the plant could be reopened. He said there were claims amounting to about $160,000 outstanding against the company.

Commissioners of Mountain county, at the state capital on their way to the convention at Jamestown, consulted state officials upon a proposal to negotiate a bond issue of $100,000 to take up county warrants and place the county on a cash basis. The warrants bear 7 per cent interest and the commissioners believe they can place a bond issue at a lower rate.

BREAKS DOWN IN TELLING ABOUT
DEATH OF GIRL

Miss Wick Pictured as Country
Girl, Sensible and of Fine

FARMER JURY SWORN IN

Twelve Jurors Obtained Late Yesterday and First Testimony Taken Today

Valley City, Jan. 19.—Hans Wick, father of Marie Wick, found dead in a Fargo hotel on June 7, last, and for whose death William Gummer, hotel clerk, is on trial in the Barnes district court, was the first witness called today.

Mr. Wick said that Marie was 18 years old last April and that she left home at Grygla, Minn., June 4, went from there to Thief River Falls from which place she left the morning of June 6 enroute to Pettibone, N. D., and that was the last time he saw her alive.

The father said his girl was not given "to running with the boys" and he broke down and cried on the witness stand when questioned concerning the last time he saw her alive and when he saw her body when called to Fargo.

Good Opinion of Girl.

J. E. Johnson, cashier of the State Bank of Grygla, Minn., the second witness, said that Miss Wick was a "her personal check at the bank" one day she left Grygla and that he also gave her a cashier's check for a like amount in exchange for a check her father had given her. Mr. Johnson said that he had known Miss Wick for sometime and that she was not given to "running around with fellows."

Mrs. Elmer Hilliard, of Lengby, Minn., testified that she met Miss Wick on a train between Crookston, Minn., and Fargo the day Miss Wick came to Fargo and that nobody except herself talked to Miss Wick during the trip. Mrs. Hilliard said that Marie appeared to her as "an awful good, sensible girl."

Arnold Rasmussen, a young man from Grygla, Minn., residing in Moorhead, testified that he had received a letter from Miss Wick asking that he meet her when she came to Fargo and Rasmussen said he did meet her on the train in Moorhead riding to Fargo with her. He had not corresponded with Miss Wick, he said.

"Surprised at Street Cars
As they left the train in Fargo Miss Wick and he walked downtown and he said she commented on street cars. Miss Wick being quoted as saying they seemed "so funny," the never before having seen a street car.

They went to the Prescott hotel where Miss Wick registered and she was shown to her room by Gummer, he said. Rasmussen said he waited in the lobby for her, that she came down 15 minutes later and they went out together to an ice cream parlor. There Miss Wick was greatly amazed at the fact that a piano could be made to play by dropping a nickel in the slot.

Rasmussen said that after leaving Miss Wick he went to Moorhead, met Miss Jennie Helgeseth, spent some time with her, and retired for the night. He knew nothing of Miss Wick's death until the following evening when he went to the officials and gave an account of his own movements and turned over the letter Miss Wick had written him.

Examine Hotel Plans
Miss Helgeseth and several other witnesses corroborated Rasmussen's accounts of his movements after leaving Miss Wick.

Sometime was given to examination of plans of the hotel and Mrs. Anna Lawrence, proprietress, on the stand accounted for various guests showing who occupied each room. She was still on the stand when the afternoon session was resumed.

Though the courtroom was cleared at 12 o'clock, when the court adjourned it quickly filled and an hour and a half before the afternoon session started nearly every seat was taken.

Jury Sworn In.

At 2:35 yesterday afternoon after a short recess the jury to try William Gummer, charged with the murder of Marie Wick, was sworn in. Every man on the jury is a farmer. They are:

Chris Olson, Ypsilanti, 25, married, no children; William Flach, Sanborn, three children, girls 16 and 18; Ernest Ladbury, Valley City, 24, baby boy; Fred H. Getchell, Valley City, 43, daughter 9; R. B. Kane, Spiritwood, three young children; Peter Rumer, Williston, 33, three girls, 4, 12, and 16, also boys; Lou A. Sundt, Valley City, single, young man, four sisters 12 to 26 years old; G. E. Ohm, Leuca, 35, four children, girl of 17; Chris Minch, Dazey, one son, 27; Theo. Thimmon, Pillsbury, 18 children, 10 girls, eldest girl at home 18; Henry Helmer, Williston, about 45, daughter 20.

The oath was administered to the jurors by Clerk of Court Harry Olby.

State Attorney Green of Cass county, started to read to the jury the information charging Gummer with the crime. To this information the defendant has pleaded not guilty.

CLAY TALKS TO BUILDERS OF HOUSES

Wants To See More Permanent Buildings, Fewer Paste-board Homes

Chicago, Ill., Jan. 18.—When we build fewer pasteboard houses and more permanent buildings when we will pay less for fires and more for fire-resistant materials, then the American homes can be expected to endure long enough to have a few memories and traditions, and our home builders may be credited with thrift in the building of homes for their children and their children's children, Warton Clay, construction engineer of this city told the Associated Metal Lath Manufacturers Annual Convention here.

"In order to accomplish the end," said Mr. Clay, "thrift must be practiced even in the design of the house. Thrift must be considered in selecting a location—sure of advance in land values, close to transportation and conveniences, and with a clear understanding of the special assessments to be paid, if any."

"Stability is an important factor and should be considered in deciding the type of architecture."

"The completed cost should be known. The home builder must not delude himself that the house is finished without the lot being graded, the lighting fixtures installed, screens and window sash provided for and other necessary features included."

"There is great advantage in arranging for a mortgage that can be paid at stated periods, but the interest must not be too large to embarrass the home owner."

"Cement walls can be properly constructed of either masonry or frame. If of masonry they should be well finished out and plastered to prevent a leak. Frame is less expensive and a rustic but requires equal maintenance. Stucco is popular but it should be carefully reinforced to be permanent."

"The most constant action is naturally of wood, and the most hazardous place should be given a special protection in the plaster at the most vulnerable places."

"Above all, keep in mind that thrift does not end entirely upon finish, but how long what is under the finish. A house of poor construction will cost more money in the end."

"Stucco walls, well insulated, walls, and a good plant, fire stops and protection of the most hazardous places, are some of the things necessary to minimize depreciation and upkeep expense."

"DON'T SELL SHORT ON NO. DAKOTA," ADVICE GIVEN BY STATE BANKER

Carrington, N. D., Jan. 18.—"Don't sell short on North Dakota," said Wesley McDowell, banker of Marion and member of the federal reserve bank board from North Dakota who was at Carrington recently.

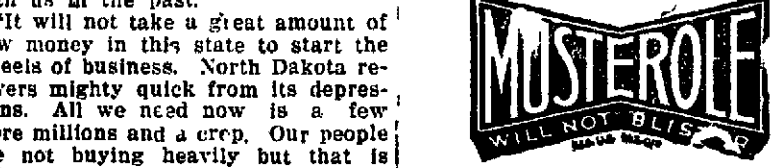

"We're about the best off of any state at that and it will take less to put us on our feet. Why there are single banks in South Dakota towns about the size of Carrington where each bank owes the federal reserve more money than all the banks in Foster county combined. Give us a 10-bushel wheat crop at 75 cents in this state the coming season and see how quickly North Dakota gets normal."

"We don't know when hard times are," continued Mr. McDowell. "Do you know that North Dakota reduced its indebtedness to the Federal Reserve bank in Minneapolis by $2,500,000 the past year? And at the same time the North Dakota banks reduced their indebtedness to other banks in the cities. Do you know that all the six states that make up the ninth federal reserve bank district owe $11,000,000 less—all of them combined owe that much less—than the banks of the city of Detroit alone owe? Think of it. All the cash we sometimes saw at the United States has been poured into Detroit for autos, yet today the banks of that city have borrowed $63,000,000 from their Federal Reserve bank, while the six states owe altogether only $32,000,000."

"During the next few months the Federal Land bank expects to be sending about $500,000 a month into North Dakota. Insurance companies are resuming farm loans and some new companies are taking on North Dakota business who have not been with us in the past."

"It will not take a great amount of new money in this state to start the wheels of business. North Dakota recovers mighty quick from its depressions. All we need now is a few more millions and a crop. Our people are not buying heavily but that is only temporary. The big machinery houses must scale down their prices. The market must be adjusted to the needs of the farmer."

"I believe when the country knows how good our land is, how neighborly our people are, how invigorating our climate is and that we have the

DISASTROUS FIRES IN S. D. LAST MONTH

No Less Than Eight Persons Were Burned To Death Says Bulletin

Pierre, S. D., Jan. 18.—Eight persons were burned to death in South Dakota during the month of December, 1921, according to the January issue of the Fire Marshall Bulletin, which will soon be off the press.

The first death by fire occurred on December 15, when Mrs. E. Close, proprietor of a small store at Flandreau lost her life in a fire of unknown origin which destroyed her shop.

Two days later, December 17, Mrs. Valgren, of Ludlow, locked her four children in the house while she went to do some chores. A little later she noticed smoke coming from the house, and while she was able to save two of the children, two others were burned to death. The mother, though severely burned, will recover.

While using gasoline to start a fire, Allan Eastland, of Wolsay, was burned to death on December 19. His father was seriously although not fatally burned, in endeavoring to save his son's life.

Henry Heckle, a farmer living south of Mount Vernon died on December 30 from burns received three weeks before from an explosion of gasoline when he attempted to fill his car by the light of a kerosene lantern.

On December 31, Mrs. Raymond Blink who lived on a farm north of Canistota was burned to death together with her ten-months old child. The parents, who slept upstairs, were awakened in the morning to find their home on fire. Not thinking of personal danger, Mrs. Blink rushed down stairs and into the blazing room where her two babies were asleep. The father tried to get her and the children out through a window but was successful in getting only one child. He was severely burned in the attempt.

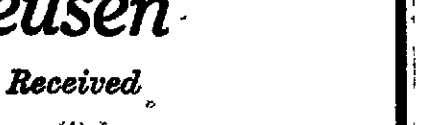

Several other fires in which people were more or less burned, some of them barely escaping death, are listed in the Bulletin.

1921 HAIL WARRANTS

While the state administration is working out a plan to make hail warrants convertible at par and which plan we believe will succeed — this company is prepared to purchase 1921 hail warrants, at 95 per cent of their face value today, and at whatever the market may warrant at any time later on.

We do not advise any holders to sell warrants at a discount, because we believe that they will ultimately be worth one hundred cents on the dollar.

We make this proposition now so that those who may feel obliged to dispose of them may realize upon them quickly and at the best figure the day's market warrants.

with the average paid throughout the United States," says Fred L. Shaw, state superintendent of public instruction. "It is a trifle higher than Iowa but about the same as Minnesota and North Dakota. It is considerably behind the salaries paid on the Pacific coast and in the larger eastern states, especially New York."

Mr. Shaw has recently returned from a trip around the state, during which he attended many county school board meetings. While there is a general retrenchment going on, he reports it will not make itself felt during the next year among the teachers.

"The general sentiment of the various boards seems to be in favor of holding up teachers' salaries wherever good teachers are now employed. In a few districts where inferior teachers are employed there is agitation to cut salaries for next year."

"The public is beginning to realize," the superintendent continued, "the economy in paying a premium for good teachers. A few years ago, most any old stick who held herself up as a teacher, was accepted without question. Today, however, first consideration is given to the training of the applicant, the grade of certificate which she holds and her previous experience."

Teaching as a profession is rapidly becoming more popular. Mr. Shaw says. Sixty-two per cent of the teachers in South Dakota this year hold first grade or higher grade certificates. In 1918 the records show only 40 per cent of the teachers in the state held first grade or higher certificates.

"The reason for this increase," Mr. Shaw says, "is that the average girl teacher realizes that while other lines of business are laying off help, the schools will continue to run despite conditions and that the higher her certificate the better are her opportunities to secure a position."

CATTLE OWNER DEAD AT HOME

Duluth Man, Owner of Page, N. D. Farm, Succumbs

Fargo, N. D., Jan. 15.—Guttford G. Hartley, Duluth financier, owner of a large cattle farm at Page, Cass county, and for years one of the big exhibitors at the North Dakota state fairs, is dead at his home in Duluth, according to telegraph advices received in Fargo. Paralysis is believed to have been the cause.

Mr. Hartley was connected with numerous enterprises at the head of the Lakes northern Minnesota and North Dakota. For some time he was a director in the Great Lakes-St. Lawrence Tidewater association. While general manager of the Duluth Street Railway company, he built the interstate bridge between Duluth and Superior, and for a number of years he was part owner of the Duluth News-Tribune.

Arbuckle Prosecutor Against Will

San Francisco, Jan. 15.—What the defense in the second Roscoe Arbuckle manslaughter trial proposes to do as a result of testimony yesterday that two prosecution witnesses had been detained at the home of an attorney of the district attorney's office was a major topic of conversation around the court room today. Miss Alice Blake as a participant in the party at the Hotel St. Francis here at which Arbuckle is accused of inflicting fatal injuries on Miss Virginia Rappe, testified yesterday that she and Zey Prevost had been detained at the home of an attorney of the district attorney's office against their will. Asked whether she had been coerced regarding her testimony that witness said she "would rather not say."

COMMISSIONERS TALK ECONOMY

Saving of Money Keynote of Jamestown Session

Jamestown, N. D., Jan. 15.—Getting 100 cents in value for every dollar of the taxpayers' money spent, was the apparent keynote of the 15th annual meeting here of the County Commissioners' association of North Dakota, in session here.

Delegates representing practically every county in the state were present at the opening session yesterday and President Sherman congratulated the association on the large attendance as indicating the commissioners' interest in the many problems which the various county boards face. More than 100 commissioners from the 53 counties are expected to register before the close of the sessions. The meeting will continue through Friday.

The commissioners were welcomed to the city by Mayor Frank T. Rathman, who emphasized the importance of the postwar problems which the commissioners are called upon to solve and warned them that they are expected to obtain 100 cents value for every dollar spent. He declared his entire confidence in the ability of commissioners to solve the "problems of peace."

Commissioner E. B. Lichty of Towner county responded to the welcome by Mayor Rathman. The great responsibility of the commissioners as one of the most important tax creating bodies of the state was emphasized by Mr. Lichty.

"The school boards come first in the amount of taxes levied," he declared, "but the various boards of county commissioners come second, and the state legislature third. If we as commissioners are not securing 100 cents in value for every dollar of the taxpayers' money spent, we want to know why we are not, and there is no better place to do this than right here at the state convention."

Taunton, Mass.—"I used to have pains in my back and legs so badly, with other troubles that women sometimes have, that my doctor ordered me to stay in bed a week in every month. It didn't do me much good, so one day after talking with a friend who took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for about the same troubles I had, I thought I would try it also. I find that I can work in the laundry all through the time and do my housework, too. Last month I was so surprised at myself to be up and around and feeling so good while before I used to feel completely lifeless. I have told some of the girls who work with me and have such troubles to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I tell them how it has helped me. You can use my testimony for the good of others."—Mrs. BLANCHE SILVIA, 69 Grant St., Taunton, Mass.

HIGH TRANSPORTATION RATES AND THEIR EFFECT UPON THE ECONOMIC SITUATION

J. J. Murphy, of Pierre, S. D., Addresses Tri-State Grain Growers' Convention

TELLS OF DIRECT TAXES

Claims Cost of Transportation. Distribution, Borne by Producing, Consuming Public

Fargo, N. D., Jan. 19.—That the present economic conditions of which transportation is a part is a result of the great lack of production incident to the loss of ten millions of acres from the industry for all time and that the years must pass before all conditions become normal was the leading thought in the address of J. J. Murphy of Pierre, S. D., before the Tri-State Grain Growers' Convention here today. Mr. Murphy appeared to discuss "The Effect of High Transportation Rates upon the Economic Situation." That the domestic problems of the United States are bound up in its foreign problems, and that the big factor in all economic problems of the present day is the loss, computed at three hundred millions of dollars, due to the transportation of goods, was the basis from which Mr. Murphy took up the discussion of transportation. Lack of production, due to the World War has resulted in a world-wide scarcity of peace-time products, Mr. Murphy declared, and that years must pass before production can again become normal.

"The cost of transportation or the cost of distribution, we believe, may be assumed to be a direct tax upon the producing and consuming public," Mr. Murphy told the Tri-State membership in discussing transportation. "If our assumption in this regard is correct, the contention of one class of advocates, that higher transportation rates will not increase the high cost of living, and the contention of another class, that someone in authority should increase the increased cost be absorbed by somebody and not passed on to the consumer, appears both amusing and absurd."

What the First Class Offers

"The first class offers in support of its contention the small amount of increased cost on a certain article, usually a pair of shoes or suit of clothes, contending that a 35 per cent increase in freight rates would increase the transportation charge on a pair of shoes from Boston to the middle west, not to exceed two cents, overlooking entirely that the example includes only one movement of many that takes place in bringing the material used and the manufactured article to the consumer, and likewise overlooking the higher cost due to the taking of profit by each agency through which the raw materials or the manufactured article passed upon the higher cost base."

"Starting the proposition in another way, we will give consideration to the increase in rates granted the carriers in Ex Parte 74, under which it was estimated that the revenues of the carriers would be increased to the extent of approximately one and a half billion dollars."

"Regardless of what the increase would amount to on any particular article or particular shipment, it must be conceded that the transportation burden was directly increased to the full extent of the increased revenue, and while it may be conceded that it is impossible to determine the actual amount of cumulative loss arrived at by combining the total amount of the increased transportation revenue and the amount of increased cost due to profit taking and otherwise as previously described, we believe however, that it would be conservative to say that the cumulative total would equal from two to three times the actual amount of the increase in transportation charges. If this conclusion is sound then it is quite clear that the burden placed upon industry by one increase in transportation rates was increased to the extent of at least three billion dollars. This increased cost is necessarily reflected in the price of commodities and to the extent of the amount involved the purchasing power of the people is limited and restricted. This in turn throws labor out of employment and tends to a reduction of railroad business and produces stagnation generally. Agriculture, the great basic industry, and its allied interests, are in dire straits due to low prices and out of line and excessive costs. Rates must be reduced to a level commensurate with the market value of commodities."

Carriers Situation Unsatisfactory

The situation confronting the carriers at this time does not appear satisfactory. Their net earnings are reported for the year 1921 show a falling off in net revenue. One of the causes if not the cause for this showing is not difficult to find, and no one, we believe, will have the temerity to advocate a further increase in transportation rates and charges in order that relief may be afforded. The real trouble appears to be that the cost of producing transportation far exceeds what it should. The costs going to the production of transportation increased to as great, if not a greater extent, than like costs in other endeavors during and after the war period. When it is considered that the labor bill of these American Railroads for the year 1920 approximately equals or slightly exceeds the gross revenues of the carriers for the year 1918, it is quite evident that the question of giving consideration to securing a reduction of costs of operation is vital and, in fact, absolutely necessary. If any substantial reduction in transportation charges is to be secured, Not all the burden of reduction should be shifted to labor, Mr. Murphy

LOCAL CAST IN 'THE ROSARY' IS A DISTINCT HIT

Large Audience at Auditorium Praises Performance of Famous Comedy Drama

GIVEN AGAIN TONIGHT

"The Rosary," which was given at the Auditorium at a matinee yesterday afternoon and an evening performance last night was a complete success, judging from the size of the crowds and the many favorable comments on the play and cast. "The Rosary," under the direction of Joseph M. Golden will be given at the Auditorium again this evening.

The theme of the play is interesting with just enough humor and pathos to make it entirely enjoyable. The main theme of the story is of the ruin of a friend, the loss of the love and home that was his, and of how the old priest, Father Kelly finds the discordant note in the household and restores peace.

Paul Maassen as Bruce Wilton, the broker, was splendid in his part and held the sympathy of the entire audience. Miss Margaret McDonald as Vera, his wife, played the dramatic role very successfully. Kenneth Wright, the family friend and society villain, was exceedingly well portrayed by William Kelly. Miss Mary Berger played the part of Alice, Vera's sister, and was very successful in her portrayal of this dramatic role.

Miss Vivian Dolan as Lesura Watkins, the maid who couldn't smile, had the leading comedy role and was a complete success. James Walsh, as Lee Martin, drew many laughs in his attempts to make Lesura laugh. Miss Arlene Fisher, as Kathleen O'Connor, was an ideal Irish colleen and Henry Sauer, as Charles Harrow, was well cast. Mr. Sauer's "Rotten" to any question asked him and his sorrowful looks caused many laughs.

Mr. Golden, who directed the play, also took the part of Father Kelly, one of the leading roles. Mr. Golden's remarkable characterization of the priest, kindly priest who aided in smoothing over so many troubles of the others was a distinct addition to the play.

The play is in four acts. Act one is a scene on the lawn of the Bruce Wilton home. The action in act two is laid in a room of the Wilton home. Act three which contains the dramatic climax of the play shows the same room the next morning and act four is a scene outside the Chapel of the Rosary one year later.

The scenery throughout the play is very attractive and forms a fitting background for the charming gowns of lady members of the cast.

An orchestra, under the direction of Donald McDonald, furnished music during the evening.

The proceeds of the play are for the benefit of St. Mary's school.

The cast follows:

- Rev. Brian Kelly—Mr. Joseph M. Golden.
- Bruce Wilton—Mr. Paul Maassen.
- Kennard Wright—Mr. William Kelly.
- Vera Wilton—Miss Margaret McDonald.
- Alice Martin—Miss Mary Berger.
- Lesura Watkins—Miss Vivian Dolan.
- Kathleen O'Connor—Miss Arlene Fisher.
- Charles Harrow—Mr. Henry Sauer.
- Lee Martin—Mr. James Walsh.

M'GARRY TALKS ON GOOD ROADS AT CONVENTION

Fargo, N. D., Jan. 19.—Good roads would save the farmers of the country millions of dollars annually, P. H. McGarry of Walker, Minn., told the Tri-State Grain Growers convention here this afternoon in discussing the necessity for good roads and the benefits that would accrue from them.

"This necessity," he said, "lies in the fact that railroad transportation has broken down entirely insofar as the short haul is concerned. In fact railroads have not been able to keep pace with increased production throughout the United States. Means of transportation by railroad for farm produce has increased only 1.05 per cent while farm produce has increased 14 per cent.

"While farm production must depend upon transportation and while railroad transportation is not adequate to take care of moving farm produce then the only remedy is to seek relief from the highways and that seems to be the only recourse left. The highways are not only feeders to the railroad and afford relief from their local burdens—they

Prevent Children's Cold Troubles

When Kiddies Come In Wet and "Sniffing," Apply Vicks Over Throat and Chest to Keep Off a Cold

CHILDREN, as modern mothers know, should play outdoors daily. Colds result. How to treat colds without inward dosing, so disturbing to little stomachs, has been a problem.

Vicks answers this need. Applied externally, it can be used freely and often. Daytimes, the kiddies can continue their outdoor fun. Night-times, the windows can be opened wide, for, if the bed clothes are left loose about the child's neck, Vicks healing vapors will be inhaled until morning.

This direct treatment usually averts spasmodic croup, and if an attack does come on unexpectedly, the use of Vicks as directed frequently brings relief in 15 minutes.

Good for Grown-ups, Too

Vicks is effective in the same way for all the cold troubles of the family, grown-ups as well as kiddies—for head colds, catarrh and asthma, deep chest colds, bronchitis, incipient pneumonia, tonsillitis, sore throat and "grippy" colds. Its penetrative and rubefacient action makes it useful for dozens of daily ills, such as bruises, burns, cuts, stings, and itching skin troubles.

The DIRECT Treatment for All Cold Troubles

ABSORBED, like a liniment, and, at the same time.

INHALED as a vapor, Vicks reaches immediately the congested air passages.

Vicks doesn't relieve every case. No remedy can do that. But it is successful in such a large percentage of cold troubles—from head colds and sore throat down to bronchitis or deep chest colds—that we have been able for years to make the following offer:

VICKS STANDING OFFER

DON'T DOSE

Nothing is more delicate than a child's digestion. Wise physicians will tell you that much more harm has been done by indiscriminate dosing by anxious mothers than if nature had been left free to take its course.

Fresh air day and night and plenty of exercise, even in the winter, lay the foundations for sturdy health in later life.

FAMOUS PICTURE WILL BE SHOWN AT AUDITORIUM

It has been announced that the Auditorium management will present on Monday and Tuesday, January 23 and 24, the beautiful hand colored picture "Behold the Man."

This production has just closed a successful engagement in New York at the Apollo Theater. It is in seven reels and it depicts with remarkable fidelity the suffering of our Savior. His miracles as related in the Bible. In its new form, it is a fast moving picture full of human interests and sympathy, with moments of rare dramatic power.

This is the largest film production finished in nature's own colors and as there are only a limited number of prints in existence, will without a doubt, mean a great deal to the citizens of Bismarck.

"Behold the Man" proved something of a novelty in New York. It should for the same in Bismarck, and will undoubtedly have a tremendous appeal, and will without doubt be enjoyed by all.

Dakota Hotel Men Entertained

After the close of the business session of the North Dakota State Hotel Men's Association, which was held in the parlor of the McKenzie hotel last night, the delegates and members, including Irvin A. Medler, secretary of the Northwest Hotel Men's Association, and editor of the Mid-West Hotel Reporter, were royally entertained by Mr. and Mrs. Patterson, at the McKenzie.

Many Bismarck people were invited in, including Gov. H. A. Nestos and some of his friends.

The guests started to gather about 8 o'clock in the evening, were shown to room 204, and at 10 o'clock sharp filed down the stairs and into the dining room. At this point the orchestra which had been kept in waiting, burst forth with "Sunny Tennessee" and the guests yielded to the temptation of the music and danced until the orchestra ceased playing before being seated.

The tables were very beautifully decorated, and a wonderful color scheme had been worked out with pink carnations, fern and holly. After the banquet had been served, Governor Nestos gave a pleasing and interesting talk to the effect that he was sure that the appreciation of the guests present would compensate their hostess and host more fully than mere money could ever do.

Dancing lasted until two o'clock in the morning, at which time the guests reluctantly took their departure.

NEW SPRING HATS ARE GAY "GARDENS"

BY MARIAN HALE
New York, Jan. 19.—Such a wealth of flowers and fruit and foliage as her spring hat must wear!

There's little of the sombre about the headwear being shown in smart shops. Verily, the chapeau one sees, already venturing the cold winds, are gardens, gaily colored and wondrously beautiful.

A great colorful cluster—rich in tints as wild fruits and flowers—hugs the crown of this Ponce hat and extends in a graceful vine to the edge of the wide brim.

Distinction between fruit and flowers seems to have been quite forgotten by the whole millinery world. A lovely purple pansy may be the central note of a bunch of bright small fruits. Deep pink tan roses are poised among velvety peaches and their waxy foliage.

Color, lots of it everywhere seems to be the beautiful objective of the designers in their efforts on early hats.

How to Get Police.

Because many people do not understand how to get the police by telephone for a hurried call, Chief Martineau today explained that if one who calls the police station, 523, is unable to get response, one should ask the telephone operator to flash the police light, giving the operator the number, and some member of the police force will respond. An officer is not kept regularly at the police station, the members of the force being out on calls or patrol duty most of the time. All complaints made to the police are treated confidentially, the chief said.

The Trinity Lutheran Ladies' Aid will give a Lufefish supper in the church basement Friday, Jan. 20th, from 5:30 to 8:00.

PASSPORT SYSTEM IS UNPOPULAR

Agitation Is Growing For Removal of Consular Visas Upon Passports

BELGIUM TAKES ACTION

Washington, Jan. 19.—The passing of the passport is gradually being brought about in response to a growing disposition on the part of the nations to get rid of burdensome war-time regulations of travel. Persons prominent in diplomatic affairs here unhesitatingly predict that as a consequence the time is not far distant when tourists may glide the globe virtually as unhampered as in the days before 1914.

The agitation for a removal of the necessity for consular visas upon passports and a letting down of the bars in border regulations had its inception and strongest backing among the business men of all nations. Restrictions upon travel have reacted upon the commercial life of those nations accustomed to gather large yearly harvests from the well-filled pockets of foreign visitors. It was pointed out; and that reaction to the pinch of wartime necessity is likely to carry the pendulum of travel restrictions back to its old position.

Belgium was the first to ease the restrictions upon travel imposed at the beginning of the war. Convinced that the necessity for rigid examination of visitors was at an end with the coming of peace, the Brussels government so modified its restrictions that persons passing through Belgium en route to other countries and persons intending to visit Belgium for a period not greater than 90 days might do so without credentials. That move was followed by agitation in Switzerland for similar letting down of the bars, and the recent action of Switzerland in granting permission for visitors to enter the country without passport restrictions is believed to be indicative of the trend of thought in virtually all the other European countries.

U. S. Position Different.

The position of the United States is somewhat different from that of its sister nations. It is explained by officials of the State Department. America's restrictions on immigration make it vitally important that the influx be carefully sorted at its point of origin, it is said, and for that reason all persons intending to enter this country must appear before an American consul and have their passports approved with a visa. By so doing, the prospective immigrant is spared a trip to this country and his return home without being obliged to land because the quota of nationals of his particular country allowed to enter America under the new immigration law had been filled before the immigrant's arrival here. The provision for culling immigrants abroad was laid down by Congress in an effort to facilitate operation of the immigration laws, and there is little prospect that the rigid rule requiring passport visas will be rescinded, it is said.

Follow U. S. Example.

Other nations adopted the custom of requiring visas on passports shortly after the American law went into effect, but their action was rather in the nature of a retaliation for what was believed to be an undue hardship imposed on their subjects by the American regulation. It is said, and sentiment abroad is veering to the belief that that retaliation has not paid and it would be well to make travel as convenient for visitors—American and others—as possible. The action of Belgium and Switzerland was cited in support of that belief, in as much as those two countries decided to remove restrictions from American travelers without demanding a reciprocal arrangement in this country.

Solving The Origin of The Polynesian Race

Honolulu, T. H., Jan. 19.—Half of a human skeleton believed to be 250 years old, discovered on this island, by a bath, is being examined by Dr. Edward Handy, of the staff of the Bishop Museum in the hope that it may help solve the problem of the origin of the polynesian race. The skeleton includes the major portion of a man's torso and is in an excellent state of preservation, especially the teeth. These are of unusual size and strength and give rise to the belief that the skeleton may be older than 250 years, Dr. Handy said. The spinal column is also preserved partially.

(Established 1873)

RAILROADS
American railroads have about 405,000 miles of track. That would make about 135 single-tracks across the continent.
The more we study the railroad problem, the more it becomes obvious that the railroads are the arteries of American business conditions.
Inventors, efficiency engineers and common sense have about solved production problems in America.
The only real problem left is distribution. That is just another word for railroads. The core of business depression is the railroad problem.

FREAKS
Circus men say that the fat lady, the midjet, the human skeleton, the sword-swallower and the human-pinchusion have passed out. They no longer appeal to the public.
A few decades ago, the side-show freak was the talk and marvel of the public. Not so now, and the side-show men are bewildered.
They do not realize that astounding mechanical inventions have usurped the stage. If Barnum were alive today, his side-show would have mechanical marvels instead of human freaks.
People, formerly interested in the human being, now are concentrated on the human being's deeds.

ORDERS
A period of depression, such as we have been passing through, is like damming up a river. Finally the dam breaks and a flood of orders rushes forth, providing plenty of jobs.
Railroads for instance:
During 1921, they ordered only 19,850 freight cars, including foreign orders, against a yearly average of 180,400 cars a year before the war. Similarly, only 200 engines were ordered in 1921, against a pre-war normal of 3000 a year.
Railroading is not the only industry that is behind on orders. When the dam breaks, a boom will start. It's beginning to break now.

RIDICULE
Philosophers frequently repeat that ridicule is the greatest destroyer. For instance, a politician may withstand much analytical or reasoning attack, but a touch of the right kind of ridicule will put him on the defensive, probably destroy him.
Ridicule, however, often is prophecy.
All new things are ridiculed. The elevated railroad was ridiculed by some of the greatest railroad men. The airplane was ridiculed in its infancy.
Steel yourself against ridicule, if you have a new idea or a new device. Ridicule is only a temporary handicap.

WORMWOOD
The ex-kaiser's pet racing yacht was the Germania. He kept it at the Kiel Yacht Club and dreamed of world power as it carried him on cruises.
The war changed a lot of things. It changed the name, Germania, to Half Moon. It also changed the yacht's ownership. Gordon Woodbury, New York, owns it now. He starts on the Half Moon for a cruise in the South Seas.
When Bill Hohenzollern heard about this at his famous woodpile in Holland, it's a safe bet he broke his saw.

RECORD
Mrs. Mary Patrick Casale gives birth to her 21st child, at Newark, N. J. Eighteen of her children are now living. The oldest is 26.
A few will comment about Mrs. Casale being an exceptionally valuable citizen, increasing our greatest kind of national wealth—manpower.
Most folks, though, will shiver at the thought of having to support 21 children. All right when Mrs. Sasale started, but now only a millionaire would brave it.
High cost of living is what keeps the average family small. Millions of mothers would be glad to have 10 children if they could afford it.

AUTOS
Passenger autos and trucks produced in United States during 1921 totaled 1,680,000.
The 1920 output was 2,210,000 vehicles.
The drop in actual number of cars was 24 per cent.
Figuring it in money or combined wholesale prices, the drop was 45 per cent.
The 45 per cent figure will be most widely quoted and mourned over. The price bug still persists in many heads, measuring business in terms of shrinking dollars instead of actual physical volume, tons, bushels, etc.

LIQUOR
Are whisky, wine or beer necessary for medicinal purposes? Journal of the American Medical Association put that question to 13,316 physicians in 19 states.
Only 2668 physicians supported beer. The vote was only 3884 for wine.
On whisky, the doctors broke about even, 6797 for and 6519 against.
What would a poll of the doctors' patients show?

JUNGLE
What's in the heart of the Congo jungle? Gorillas, big snakes, cannibals beating tomtoms and eating missionaries? That's the general notion. But there's something else.
Out of the heart of the Congo last year came 70,000,000 pounds of copper.
The white man is penetrating everywhere, and with him goes hard work, the price of this so-called civilization. Is it worth while? Or are savages happier before the white man brings the time-clock?

FIRE
Times must be getting better. Fire losses are dropping. Credit men say that's a sure sign of easier money conditions. Fewer business men are burning their properties to collect insurance for meeting bills.
Fire during December destroyed $27,366,500 worth of buildings, against $41,197,000 in December, 1920.
Since 1878, fire losses have totaled about $7,700,000,000 in United States. We are a careless people—sure sign of national wealth.

BUCKET-SHOPS
The editor of the Magazine of Wall Street is conducting a campaign against "the bucket-shop evil." Amen! say all of us.
But neither regulation nor extinction will end the bucket-shop evil.
The real problem is the suckers who patronize the bucket shops. Take the ticker-office from them and they'd go out and bet that the sun won't rise tomorrow. One born every minute was true when Adam was alone in the garden. Now it has to be multiplied by thousands.

CHANCE
The supposedly impossible happens again. Arthur Lucy swallows his false teeth, is rushed in a police ambulance to a hospital at Brockton, Mass. Doctors sharpen their knives and crowd around. Arthur's teeth are back in his mouth. He will recover.
The same day, word comes from Quebec province of a man who choked to death on a popcorn kernel.
Life is uncertain. The unexpected often lies around the corner.

MOBS
A check-up shows that 3436 victims have been lynched by mobs since 1889. Only 17 per cent of them were accused of assaulting women. Lynched victims included 64 women.
Mob rule is government by minority—the very thing our republic was founded to avoid.

EDITORIAL REVIEW
Comments reproduced in this column may or may not express the opinion of The Tribune. They are presented here in order that our readers may have both sides of important issues which are being discussed in the press of the day.

TOO MUCH GOVERNMENT
Senator A. O. Stanley of Kentucky complains that authority is becoming centralized in the Federal government at the expense of the state and individual liberty. This is not so much a cry for "states rights," as we understand it, as it is a protest against too much government. "Willingness to imperil one's own liberty to destroy the liberty of his neighbor has in recent years assumed in certain quarters the aspect of an obsession," the senator said in a recent Chicago address.
This is the truth. Of late years socialism, springing from Marx and its rival philosophy, Hegelian idealism, have dominated the political thought of the world, and as a consequence the State has come to be the critic and judge of all that lies within it. The scope of state activity has increased and broadened until it includes even the appetites and thirst of its members. Just at present, however, there is a slight movement back to the philosophy of individualism, and though carried to its extreme this would mean anarchy, still a little of it applied to practical politics is healthy. While the individual is never so free as when he is being coerced into doing the right thing, the whole point of state interference is lost either if those in power are not wise men, or if the particular matter lends itself better to individual than state action. The State is certainly interested in all that goes on within it, but this does not imply that the State must do everything. There are certain industrial, humanitarian and moral enterprises which experience has taught us are better done by the individual than by the State, and in these matters the State had best step aside, though without taking its eye off the job, and let those go ahead who are better fitted to do so than it.—St. Paul Pioneer Press.

SLOWLY BUT SURELY APPROACHING HIS DESTINATION

Berton Braley's Daily Poem Speaking & Respect

"Respect for age" we've heard about
But not a single word about
Why age should be entitled to respect;
Some folks grow old in foolishness
And stubbornness and mulishness
Without a bit of sense that we detect.
There's nothing in senility
That moves us to humility,
We don't respect the older folks as such—
But if they show sagacity
And ample thought-capacity
Why then we do respect them, very much!

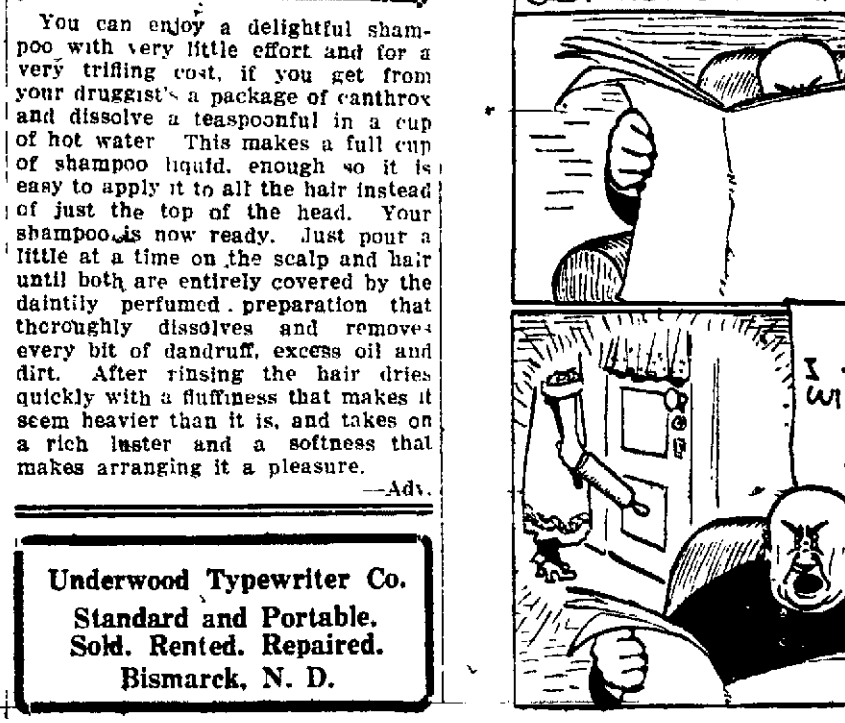

If age forgets its platitudes
And customary attitudes
And tries to understand our point of view;
If age is wise and practical,
Not preachy and didactical,
Then age will get respect that's plainly due;
But not while still it babbles on
And says, "Dear me!" and gabbles on
About these "dreadful younger folks," in sooth.
For age cannot collect from us
A sign of much respect from us
Until age shows a fair respect for youth!

NAZIMOVA BRINGS "CAMILLE" UP TO DATE AS PHOTOPLAY

"Camille," the Nazimova production which will be seen tonight at the Capitol Theater, where it is scheduled for a run of three days, has been modernized for the screen in an adaptation by June Arliss, who wrote the continuity for the Rex Ingram productions for Metro of "The Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse" and "The Conquering Power." In playing the Dumas heroine, Nazimova follows the tradition that has led nearly all of the great actresses to give it a place in their repertoire; the tradition of Bernhardt, Eleonora Duse, Clara Morris, Rejane, Modjeska, Laura Keane, Olga Nethersole and Ethel Barrymore.
In Rudolph Valentino, the dashing young actor who plays the role of Armand Duval, Nazimova has a leading man of brilliant gifts who has won much praise for his remarkable performances in "The Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse," as Julio Desnoyers, and in "The Conquering Power," as Charles Grandet.
The story is about a young Parisian law student, Armand Duval, who loves a notorious, beautiful woman who abandons her Parisian haunts and decides to live simply and unobtrusively with him. Armand's father, anxious for the family honor, prevails on her to leave his son. Camille consents, returns to her cabaret night life, but is deserted by her friends when illness attacks her. Slowly she sinks to poverty and neglect and at last dies, happy in the thought that she prevented Armand from ruining his chances of a career. Before she dies, Armand has learned of the sacrifice she made for him.

TRIBUNE HELPS LOCATE BOY

Anxious Mother Hears From Son Absent From Home
Several weeks ago a Tacoma, Washington, woman wrote to Sheriff Welch asking his aid in locating her young son, who came to North Dakota to work and from whom she had not heard for a long time. The Tribune published the appeal at the request of the sheriff, and he has received the following note from the mother:
"I received a reply from my boy in answer to the letter that was put in the paper. Thanking you for your kindness in helping me, I am."
Sheriff Welch has received a letter from John N. Weber, attorney of Watertown, S. D., stating that on behalf of relatives he seeks to locate one Arthur O. Taylor, who was in North Dakota several months ago. There is a rumor that he was injured, and possibly killed, in a railroad accident or wreck. Mr. Weber would appreciate any information that might be given about him.

MILNOR HAS TWO FIRES.
Milnor, N. D., Jan. 19.—Milnor had two fires in one week. The first, believed due to defective wiring, damaged the Milnor Meat Market and stock to the extent of several hundred dollars, fully insured. The second fire did considerable damage to the home and contents owned here by J. A. Stockstad. Firemen checked the blaze in both instances by hard fighting.

ADVENTURE OF THE TWINS

By Olive Barton Roberts
The next thing the Twins found was a nest of eggs. How it happened that they didn't break, I don't know, but there they were perfectly whole, not a crack in one of them. That's the way it is with Whizzy Tornado—he can shatter whole towns with one whiff of his great breath, and yet it often happens that he sets things down miles off, so very gently that it wouldn't awaken a sleeping baby.
The eggs were crying and making queer sounds. "What is it?" asked Buskins, bending low. "Oo-ling-hoo-wong-choo!" wailed the eggs. "Ying-sing-wu-luh-too!"
"That's too bad," said the fairy-man soberly. "It must be awful."
But the Twins understood. "They are Chochin China eggs," said Nancy, "and they want their mama, they say. They'll be chickens by tomorrow if they are only kept warm. They are just beginning to hatch."
"Well, well! Here's a pretty kettle of fish. I mean nestful of eggs," said Buskins. "Does anybody see a hen anywhere?"
Nobody did, but a large red rooster happened to strut by just then, little suspecting what was in store for him.
Nock grabbed him and set him on the nest of eggs, much to that gentleman's amazement. "Cluck, cluck, cluck," he chorused, getting redder and redder in the face. "What's all this? This is an outrage! Let me go, I tell you!"
"Yes, tomorrow, my dear sir, tomorrow," nodded Buskins. "You may as well be of some use while you're here. Be good and I'll send you home as soon as I can."
And Mr. Rooster obeyed, although he kept muttering to himself and chucking away down in his throat. He told his friends afterwards that he was never so mortified in his life. Playing hen was bad enough, but "hinese chickens!"

TAX BURDENS OF N. D. PEOPLE MUST BE REDUCED

careful so as not to cut so seriously any one class, department, or political sub-division or line of public business as to destroy the efficiency of the public service. The true method, I believe, is to scrutinize each one of them with care and to make such reductions can be made in each without striking a vital blow at any branch of the public business. If those interested in each, approach the problem from this angle and personally make the suggestions as to where expenses might be curtailed and the cost of the service reduced, they will be much more likely to have the reductions made without decreased efficiency than if the slashing is done by those who are unfamiliar with the work and the needs of these departments and sub-divisions.

Advices Against Extra Expenses
Among the people who have come to me with remonstrances are those interested in the Good Roads movement. Personally, I am a thorough believer in the need of and the value of building and maintaining a system of good roads, and I would be the last to encourage any economist that would seriously interfere with the road building program of the State of North Dakota during the next ten or fifteen years. Nevertheless, I have expressed the conviction that it should be possible, for a year or two, to lock after road maintenance, but to enter into very few construction agreements unless the country is in exceptionally good financial condition. We may, however, perfect our plans for the future and so organize our forces that as soon as normal conditions are restored we may go on with renewed enthusiasm in the work of giving the state the system of good roads that we need and desire.

The library interests have also found it cause for worry. But the amounts expended in this field are so small and the service to the people of the state so important that any great curtailment here would be a serious blunder. The library is a source of so much of the education and pleasure of a large proportion of the people in town and country, that this state ought to adopt a County Library Law that would make it possible at a very small cost to extend this opportunity of education and pleasure to all our people.

Representatives of the schools have also spoken to me and called my attention to the fact that in some sections there has been a disposition to make all the curtailments on school taxes and thereby seriously to injure, and possibly destroy, the efficiency of our public school system. I need not contend here that it would be a great mistake to do this. In a Republic, we need an educated citizenship, and great as the call for economy is, we cannot afford to slash and curtail the expenditures for education so as to injure this important cause.

Praise County Agent Work
I have also had calls from those who are interested in the county agents, and I have seen enough of the work of these agents to know that it is a work of great importance in the growth and development of our state. We need greater diversification of our crops and products and the improvements in seed, in method of cultivation, in livestock and in general methods of farming. To build a successful state and to promote the financial independence of our people, more cows, corn, hogs, and garden must be raised, and intelligent diversification promoted, and it would be a serious blunder to do all the slashing at this point and to cut off this development, now that it is nicely under way.

I might mention several other special interests pending, but let this suffice to show that in considering the matter you will come to the conclusion that no one of these shall bear it all, or bear so much as to permanently suffer, but that each shall be permitted to do its share in the financial reconstruction of our state, by bearing a part of the burden of reduction and curtailment. If we scrutinize carefully the places, the amounts and the reasons for the great increases in our tax burdens, we will also, I am sure, discover where reductions may be made without seriously interfering with efficiency, and without curtailing the growth of our state or the development and happiness of our people.

The Industrial Commission, of which I am a member, is trying to do its share at Bismarck, but we realize that the burden is too great to be borne and lifted by these officials alone, and that the only way by which real relief may come, is by a thorough-going cooperation all along the line.

"I am pleased to report that in the many answers received to the letters written to the counties and county seats of our state, there is not one word of discord, but an apparent willingness to do their share if it has not been done already.

RESHID BEY CAPTURED BY KEMAL PASHA

Constantinople, Jan. 19.—The Turkish Ambassador to Persia, Reshid Bey, appointed by the Sublime Porte, has been captured by Kemal Pasha, the Nationalist leader, at Angora. Kemal's Angora government contends that the Sublime Porte, head of the Turkish government in Constantinople, has no right to appoint Turkish ambassadors to foreign countries but that this right is vested in the Angora government.

Reshid Bey's capture was effected by guile. He was proceeding from Constantinople by steamer for Batum, a port on the eastern shore of the Black Sea, enroute to Teheran, the Persian capital. When he reached Trebizond, a Black Sea port in the territory controlled by Kemal Pasha, he was persuaded to land so that the Angora government could "give him a message to the Persian government."

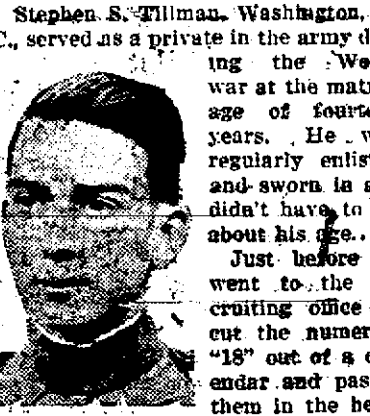

The "message" proved to be a warrant for his arrest on the ground that the Nationalist Assembly already had appointed a Turkish ambassador to Persia.

THE AMERICAN LEGION

IN ARMY AT THE AGE OF 14

Stephen S. Tillman of Washington, New Sergeant-at-Arms of George Washington Post.

Stephen S. Tillman, Washington, D. C., served as a private in the army during the World war at the mature age of fourteen years. He was regularly enlisted and sworn in and didn't have to lie about his age. Just before he went to the recruiting office he cut the numerals "18" out of a calendar and pasted them in the heels of his shoes. When the recruiting officer asked him how old he was, Tillman replied: "I'm over eighteen." They swore him in.

Being a trifle smaller than a regulation army rifle, he was detailed as a bugler. He went to the Mexican border with his company, "B" of the Third D. C. Infantry. Coming back from the border as the United States entered the World war, he did guard duty along Conduct road, Washington, where several hundred attractive young women were taking an intensive training course. But he was only sixteen years old then.

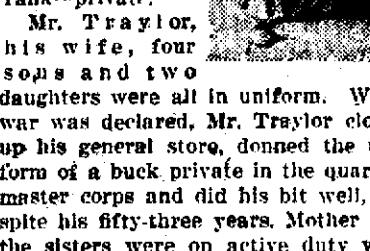

Now he is sergeant-at-arms of George Washington Post No. 1 of the American Legion, Washington, the first Legion post organized. His father is a retired cavalry officer.

THE TRAYLOR FAMILY HELPED

Father, Mother, Four Sons and Two Daughters in Uniform During the World War.

When the old question of "who won the war?" comes up, the Traylor family of Trenton, Mo., may step forward and admit that they helped. The commanding officer of the family that was 100 per cent in active service was the father, W. S. Traylor, rank-private.

Mr. Traylor, his wife, four sons and two daughters were all in uniform. When war was declared, Mr. Traylor closed up his general store, donned the uniform of a buck private in the quarter-master corps and did his bit well, despite his fifty-three years. Mother and the sisters were on active duty with the Red Cross.

Of the four sons, Charles was with the Eighty-ninth division and was wounded. Frank was an aviator. Orville served with the adjutant general's department and Roy was with the Thirty-first railway engineers.

JUMPING BEANS FOR GIRLS

Sick and Wounded Veterans in New Mexico Hospitals Are Hungry for Cheer Letters.

Trained to leap through hoops and stand unhit, thousands of genuine Mexican jumping beans are waiting girls of the United States who will write a little letter of cheer to a disabled soldier. The exchange of letters for jumping beans is being made through Herman G. Baca, Santa Fe, N. M., adjutant of the American Legion of the state.

Five thousand sick and wounded veterans of the World war, recuperating in hospitals in New Mexico, have trained the beans. The young men are terribly lonesome. Mr. Baca writes, and they will send a bean to every girl who will write a letter to them.

The jumping beans are dark brown, somewhat larger than the ordinary bean. The animation of the vegetable is caused by a tiny worm that crawls into the bean and consumes the edible portion. After the worm is dead, the bean keeps on jumping.

Presidents as Military Men

More than half of the presidents of the United States have held some military rank, according to The American Legion Weekly. Of the whole line of twenty-eight presidents sixteen were military men, and of the succession following the Civil War Grant, Hayes, Garfield, Arthur and Harrison were generals; Roosevelt was a colonel and McKinley was a major.

Unto the End

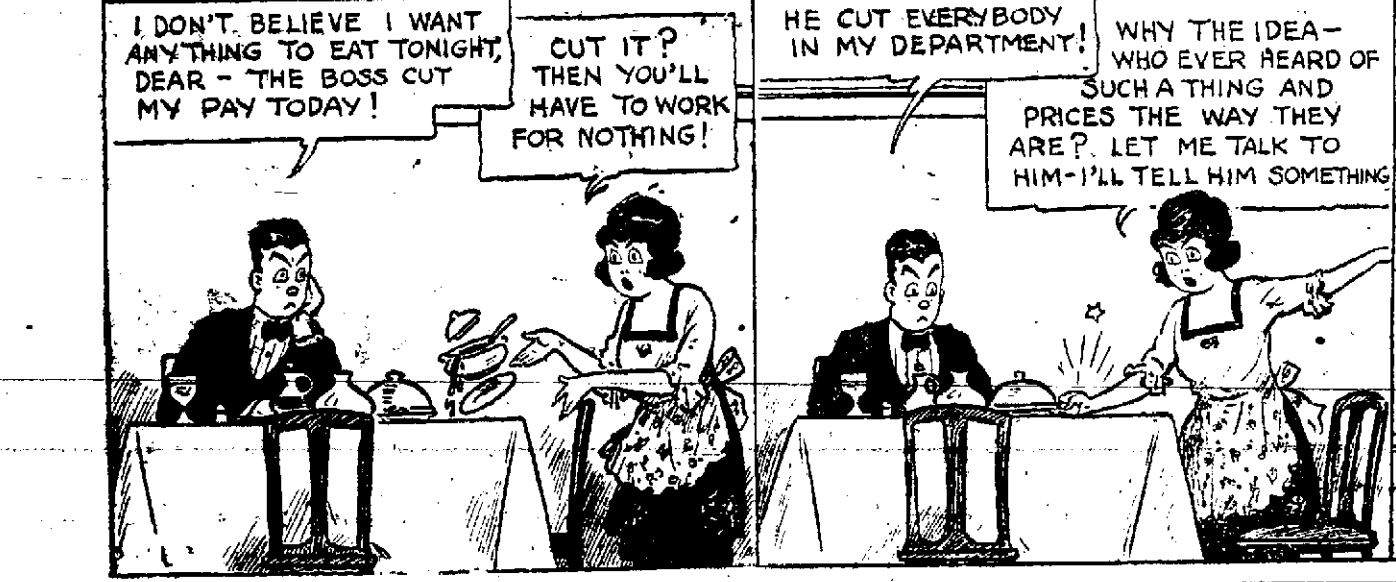

"How's this?" asked the lawyer. "You've named six bankers in your will to be pall-bearers. Of course, it's all right, but wouldn't you rather choose some friends with whom you are on better terms?"

"No, judge, that's all right. Those fellows have carried me for so long they might as well finish the job," American Legion Weekly.

CHIEF ENGINEER OF ROLLS ROYCE OWNS OVERLAND

Outlines His Reason For Choosing Overland Coupe For Own Use

The chief engineer of Rolls Royce of America ought to be rather particular about the car he drives.

And he is. After looking over the field very carefully, M. Olley, chief engineer of the Springfield, Mass., plant of Rolls Royce of America, purchased an Overland Coupe.

At the request of one of his friends at the Springfield Branch of Willys-Overland, he outlined his reasons why.

Here they are:
1. General Value—It gives me for a remarkable price, a covered car which is entirely suitable and convenient for business purposes and for all times of the year. I know of no other car which offers as great a value for the money in convenience for this type of work.

2. Body Details—The details of the body are good. Upholstery is quite good and comfortable; rubber mud is conspicuous; but for passenger good, instantaneous window lifts are an immense convenience, as in bad weather the left-hand window need only be opened momentarily for signalling. The glass is of excellent quality; dome light is convenient, cow ventilator is easily operated and waterproof. Rear locker cover is also waterproof and large and the lid not too heavy for handling.

3. Wheels—Spoke wheel carrier rigid and convenient—wheel does not rattle. The wire wheels appear to me to be of a very excellent type and do not work loose on the hubs, as the older type, driven by pins, used to do. My tires are about right for a car of this size and weight.

4. Chassis Details—The type of springing appears excellent in preventing "pitching" in a short wheel base car.

5. Lubrication—One advantage of the springing and steering mechanism is that practically all grease cups and oilers are at the two extreme ends of the car where they are readily accessible. The only two grease cups which are still rather inaccessible are the ones at the front end of the torque tube (not shown in your instruction book) and the one on the intermediate shaft half way down the torque tube. The height of the chassis from the ground, however, makes these two points far more accessible than is the case with similar points in many cars.

The use of oil cups on the springs, shafts and steering pivots is much in advance of grease cups. I understand, however, why grease cups are used in other places where oil would not be retained.

Whereas my former car took over an hour to grease even with Alemite, and made me exceedingly dirty, I can grease and oil this one in 15 minutes without trouble. As a result, this car is liable to receive better attention.

The enclosure of the whole engine, transmission, clutch and universal in one case, lubricated automatically by the engine, eliminates much uncertainty as to the proper lubrication of these parts, and several messy jobs which are generally not done at sufficiently frequent intervals on a car used for business purposes by a busy man.

Lubrication of the transmission with engine oil makes the gears noisier than they would be if thicker lubricant was used, but considering the small use of the gears, and the elimination of another lubrication job, the new design is an improvement.

The engine oil strainer on top of the crank case is a great convenience, and the lack of an underpan makes it very easy to drain the old oil out of the engine and renew it at the proper intervals.

There is about one-tenth as much expense for neglecting the proper lubrication of this car as there is for the average car.

(c) Rear Axle—The spiral bevels with wide-spread bearings for the bevel pinion are a good feature, very rarely met with.

The brake gear on the rear axle and torque tube with straight pull rods, is far ahead of the usual designs.

The usual bent-wire pull rods of the average design are entirely unsatisfactory.

(d) Engine—Seems well up to its job, though so small. The car will climb all ordinary hills in high without rushing, and will travel as fast as a small car has any right to do.

The I-head type of engine with its side valves, and tappets lubricated from the crank chamber, eliminates the regular oil-can job on the overhead rockers of the valve-in-head engine. It also eliminates the tire writer's letter of the average overhead valve engine.

(e) Accessories—The generator, starting motor, generator cut-out distributor wiring and battery, are all very accessible.

All strainers are accessible. Gravity feed to the carburetor gets rid of vacuum feed troubles and simplifies the whole car.

I think all the above items are improvements and conveniences of real value in a car of this type.

Seeks Pomerene's Senate Job

MRS. VIRGINIA D. GREEN.

By NEA Service

Cleveland, Jan. 19.—Mrs. Virginia D. Green has just announced her candidacy for a seat in the United States Senate.

She probably will seek the Democratic nomination at the next primary.

Mrs. Green says her candidacy is a protest of women against the seating of Senator Truman H. Newberry of Michigan, who was accused of gaining his seat by spending large sums.

Mrs. Green has served as a school board member in Cleveland for 10 years. If she enters the Democratic primary she will be a primary opponent of Senator Alice Pomerene of Ohio, who will seek nomination for re-election.

NEAR END OF CHINA DEBATE

Washington Committee Adopts Resolutions on Railways

Washington, Jan. 19.—The Far Eastern committee of the Washington conference today adopted two resolutions dealing with Chinese railways and then began consideration of the status of existing commitments in China, the last item on the Chinese section of the conference agenda.

One of the railroad resolutions adopted pledges the powers and China against "unfair discrimination" in railroad rates and facilities. The other expresses the hope in eventual unification of the Chinese roads under Chinese control. Both were adopted substantially in the form presented yesterday, although a few minor changes were made.

RESPECT TREATY POINCARE ASKS

Paris, Jan. 19.—(By the A. P.)—"Respect for the treaties that fix the peace terms," is the platform premier Poincare decided upon to present to his cabinet for the Chamber of Deputies this afternoon. The declaration blames "shameless propaganda" for the pictures drawn abroad of France as "painted with a sort of Imperialistic madness."

PARIS TO HOLD WORLD CONGRESS OF IRISH RACE

Paris, Jan. 19. Promoters of the World Congress of the Irish race to be held in Paris for one week beginning January 31, says it will be the greatest gathering of the Irish race since King Brian's historic assembly in 1014.

The various methods by which the 25,000,000 persons of Irish blood throughout the world can assist in the economic reconstruction of Ireland made necessary by the years of conflict, will be among the chief problems before the conference. The revival of Irish art, language and literature also will be considered.

One of the large halls in the center of Paris has been obtained for the sessions and an exhibition of Irish art will be held in another hall near the headquarters. The best known Irish artists are painting pictures for the exhibition.

Concurrently with the Congress will be a representation of Irish drama in French, in one of the Parisian theaters and a concert of Irish music by one of the best known orchestras in Europe.

Many descendants of Irish exiles of the 17th century who played historic roles in France and other countries have responded to the invitation of the general secretary, Miss Katherine Hughes, who will be present.

Five South American countries have already indicated a desire to send delegations. These are Brazil, Argentina, Chile, Bolivia, and Peru, while delegations from New Zealand, Tasmania and other remote countries are already on their way.

Forty-two babies in 44 years, the record of an English woman who died in 1726, is said to be still unbeaten.

More than 25,000,000 tons of patent fuel are made annually in Germany, against less than 2,000,000 tons in Great Britain.

Eight hundred thousands miles of twine are used annually to tie up packages of letters by postoffice employees.

Resolution Adopted On Increase In Hotel Costs

Ted Kahellek, of Kenmare, was elected president of the North Dakota Hotel and Restaurant Men's association in annual meeting here. Mr. Kahellek was vice president. B. W. Higgins, of Lakota, was named vice president, and Dee Reade, of Fargo, was elected secretary-treasurer.

The legislative committee of the association will hold over. In an informal discussion of various matters connected with the hotel and restaurant business, the association instructed the legislative committee to consider any matters which may come before the next session of the legislature.

The place of next meeting was left to the executive committee.

Resolution Adopted

A resolution adopted on increased costs of hotel operation follows: Whereas, it has come to the notice of the North Dakota Hotel and Restaurant Men's Association, in convention assembled at Bismarck, January 13, 1922, that many complaints are being made by manufacturers, jobbers and the public, regarding charges for rooms and meals, and

Whereas, many statements regarding the cost of commodities are being made and sent broadcast, leading people to believe that hotel rates are too high, and

Whereas, Our Members believe that these complaints are honestly made but without knowledge of the real facts in connection with our business.

Now Therefore, Be it Resolved, that the President and Secretary be instructed to issue a statement to the public, setting forth conditions as they actually exist in this state.

Minor Items of Expense
Crocery ware, kitchen utensils and equipment, galvanized ware and buck-ets, bed springs and mattresses, plumbing fixtures and furniture—considerable decrease from 1920, but still 25 to 75 per cent increase over 1915.

"The average rate on rooms has not increased over 25 per cent since 1915, while the increased cost is still very much more than in 1915."

"We have also suffered a great decrease in the volume of business, due to existing conditions, and many hotels are having a hard struggle to meet expenses."

"The unanimous opinion of the members of the Association is that the Hotel Fraternity take no backward step in the quality of its service and believe that their patrons should be willing to pay a fair price for the same."

CHARLEY McDONALD BACK IN RING AFTER ABSENCE OF FIFTEEN YEARS

Charles McDonald is back in the ring after an absence of 15 years, and back to meet all comers.

It was in 1906 when McDonald fought Billy Kelly in Mandan for the middleweight championship of the northwest, and won it, that he retired from the pugilistic ring. McDonald is 41 years old and still suffers from an injury to his right hand occasioned in the Kelly fight, but he is getting in shape to enter the ring regularly.

McDonald, by the way, is fighting Krause at Dodge Tuesday night. Jimmy Russell, of Minneapolis, who was billed to meet Krause, did not appear. They boxed five two-minute rounds. McDonald injured his hand and retired at the end of the fifth round. McDonald went in the ring weighing less than 135 without much training and Krause was much heavier. McDonald said that Krause fought a nice, clean fight.

Finlayson, of Bismarck, threw a round twice in a few minutes in a wrestling match as a part of the evening's entertainment. Finlayson offered to throw any ten men in the house in an hour and is looking for wrestling matches. He is in splendid condition.

FARMERS MAY CASH WARRANTS

Plan of Handling First Lot at 97 Per Cent Announced

Farmers who desire to take advantage of the offer of 97 per cent of face value for state hail warrants may send their warrants to W. F. Reko, care of the farm loan department of the Bank of North Dakota. It was stated today. Under the agreement by which a prominent financier in the state agreed to buy $200,000 of warrants at 97 per cent of face value, it was agreed that Mr. Reko would have the privilege of office space in the farm loan department of the bank through which to handle the business. Money was placed in Bismarck today, and Mr. Reko will pay for warrants he purchases upon receipt of them. It was stated.

The plan of the administration by which the discount rate on hail warrants has been reduced from the first discount asked of 20 per cent includes an agreement of the Minnesota Loan and Trust Company to purchase all 1921 warrants issued after certain legal requirements are met.

The legal points to be settled, it was stated, are involved in a test suit which is now in the supreme court, and which the court has decided to hear Saturday. An early decision by the court is expected by Attorney General Sveinbjorn Johnson, who has handled the many legal problems in connection with the effort of the Industrial Commission, of which he is a member, to dispose of the warrants.

GIVEN $1 VERDICT IN SLANDER SUIT

Stanley, N. D., Jan. 19.—Verdicts of $1 each for the plaintiffs were returned in district court in the cases of Mert McQueen vs. Gordon Campbell, and Mrs. Mert McQueen vs. the same defendant, for alleged slanderous statements made concerning the death of Mrs. Campbell which occurred in March, 1920.

Mrs. Campbell was a sister of Mert McQueen. The parties involved in the case are from the Van Hook vicinity. McQueen in his complaint asked for $4,000 damages and Mrs. McQueen brought action against Campbell for $5,000 damages. As the evidence in the two cases covered about the same grounds, it was agreed to try the two cases jointly.

and confirmation to the end that it might become a political issue in the coming primary campaign in North Dakota.

Mr. Miller attacked Judge N. C. Young who he declared was responsible for the charges and who he asserted failed to substantiate them with any proof "except his own statement."

The nominee reviewed several charges brought against him with reference to his loyalty during war, stating he had introduced documentary proof, consisting of liberty bond subscription cards, a federal certificate placing his name on the honor roll for services during the war and copies of speeches he delivered during that period.

Referring to charges of wrongfully obtaining fees from Stark county, Mr. Miller said he had submitted the original district court records which he asserted fully refuted the charges. On the charge of wrongful conduct in the Nerby case in Iowa, Mr. Miller stated he submitted written receipts and statements from his clients, from the defendants and from county authorities, which, he contended, utterly disproved them.

DENIES STATEMENT

The Tribune today received a wire from Gilbert W. Haggart, who is in Washington attending the Miller judgeship hearing, reading as follows:

1921 HAIL WARRANTS

While the state administration is working out a plan to make hail warrants convertible at par and which plan we believe will succeed — this company is prepared to purchase 1921 hail warrants, at 95 per cent of their face value today, and at whatever the market may warrant at any time later on.

We do not advise any holders to sell warrants at a discount, because we believe that they will ultimately be worth one hundred cents on the dollar.

We make this proposition now so that those who may feel obliged to dispose of them may realize upon them quickly and at the best figure the day's market warrants.

Draw on us directly through the Ransom County Farmers Bank, Lisbon, N. D.
